SYNERGIST
1983

syn-er-gist (sin er-jist) 1. The action of two or more substances, organs, or organisms to achieve an effect of which each is individually incapable. (GK sunergos, working together). 2. The 1983 yearbook of Science High School, Newark, New Jersey.

History is the witness that testifies to the passing of time. It illumines reality, vitalizes memory, provides guidance in daily life, and brings us tidings of antiquity.

In the Beginning . . .

40 Rector Street was a part of the Ballantine Brewery. Several architectural features still remain from that initial stage of this building's history. Few school buildings have had such an unusual beginning.

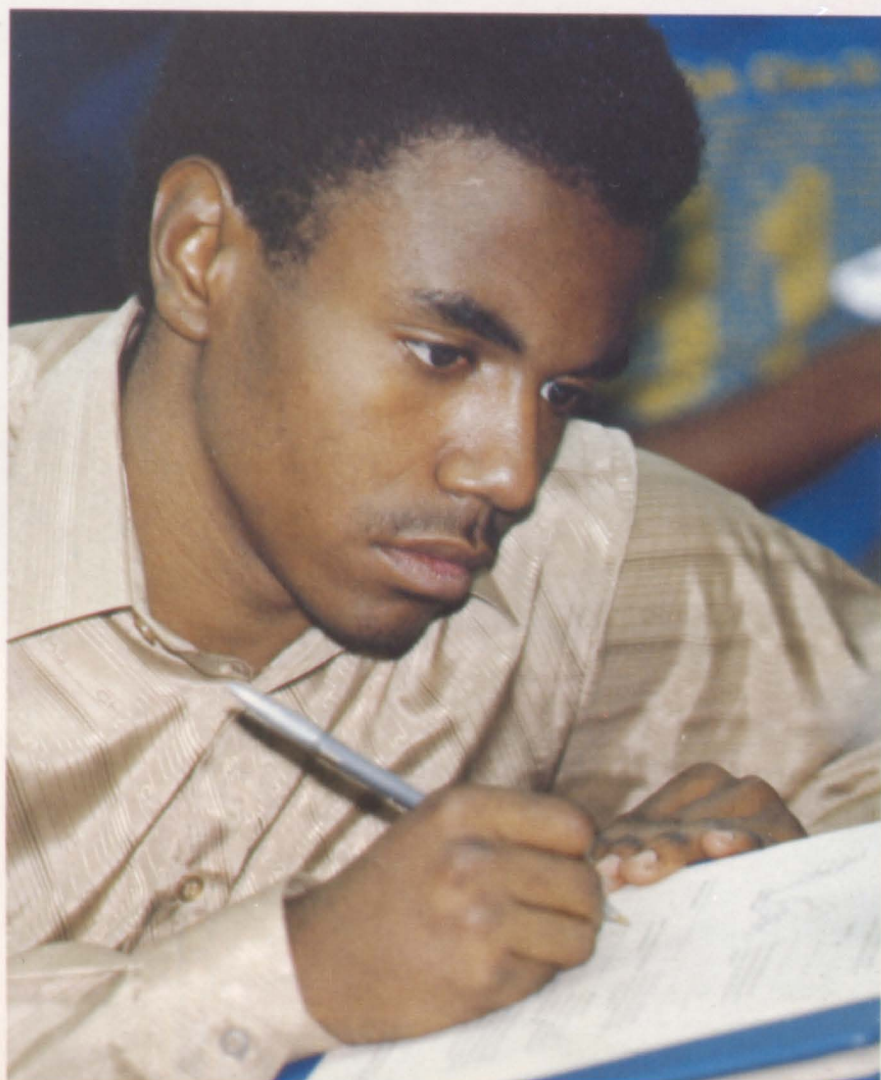

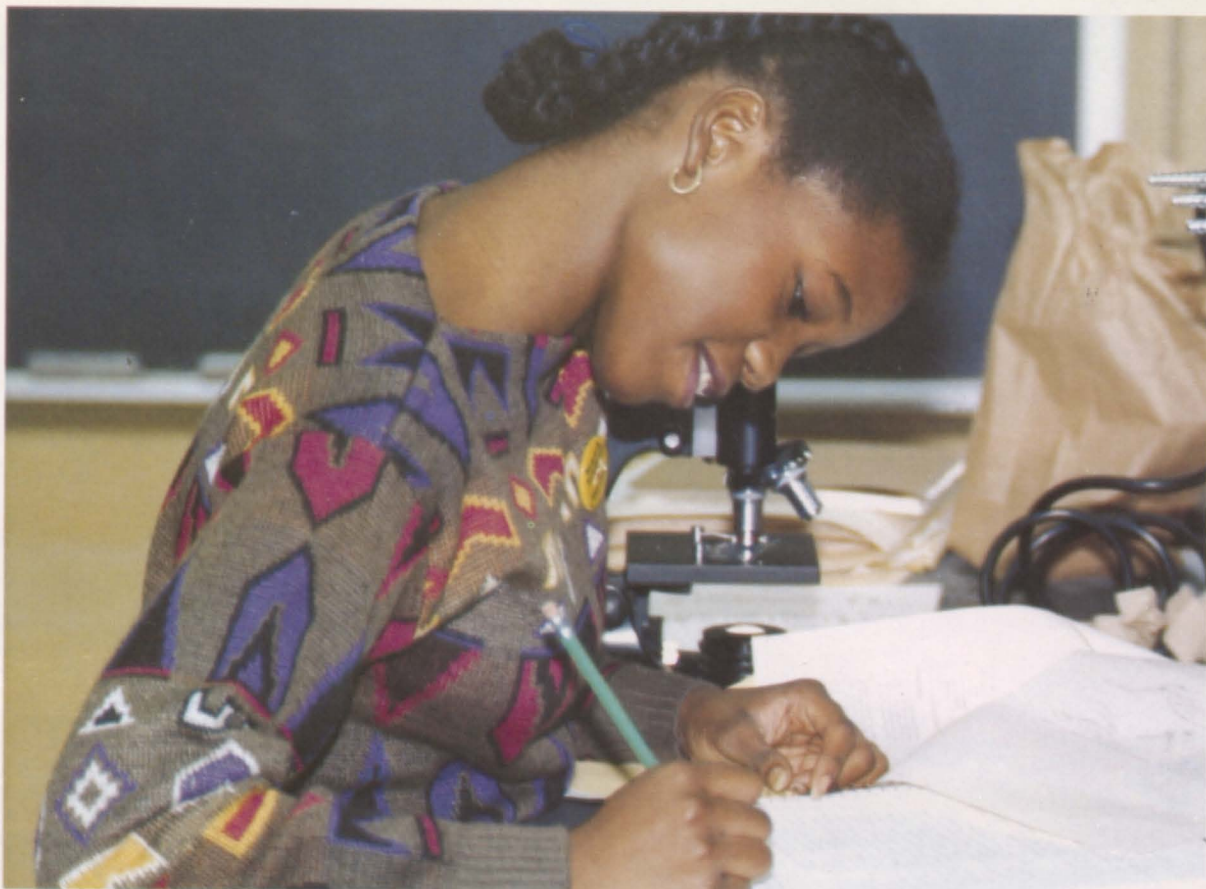

After the brewery operations were transferred to another location, the building was remodeled as a school. Within its walls were housed several distinctive schools: The N.J. Law School, 1908; Newark Institute of Arts and Sciences, 1910; The Mercer Beasley Law School, 1912; Seth Boyden School of Business, 1926; Dana College, 1930. In 1936, these different schools were combined, and they gave rise to the University of Newark.

On April 30, 1946, the New Jersey legislature passed an act incorporating the University of Newark with Rutgers, the State University, and the school became Rutgers-Newark. Rutgers left Rector Street in 1973 for its new complex. Science High, formed in 1974 by a coalition of Newark Board of Education and the Council for Higher Education in Newark, provided intensive science instruction and a comprehensive curriculum for Newark's students. The school spent its first year at Central High School. When Rutgers vacated this Rector Street address, Science High moved in. Still in the process of renovating to suit the purposes of a 4 year high school, Science High has expanded its student enrollment and its faculty and staff.

From brewery to college to university to Science High, this structure has truly had a varied and interesting history. Now it is the home of over 600 students and 60 staff members. May it have a long future as an institution providing high quality education to Newark's youth.

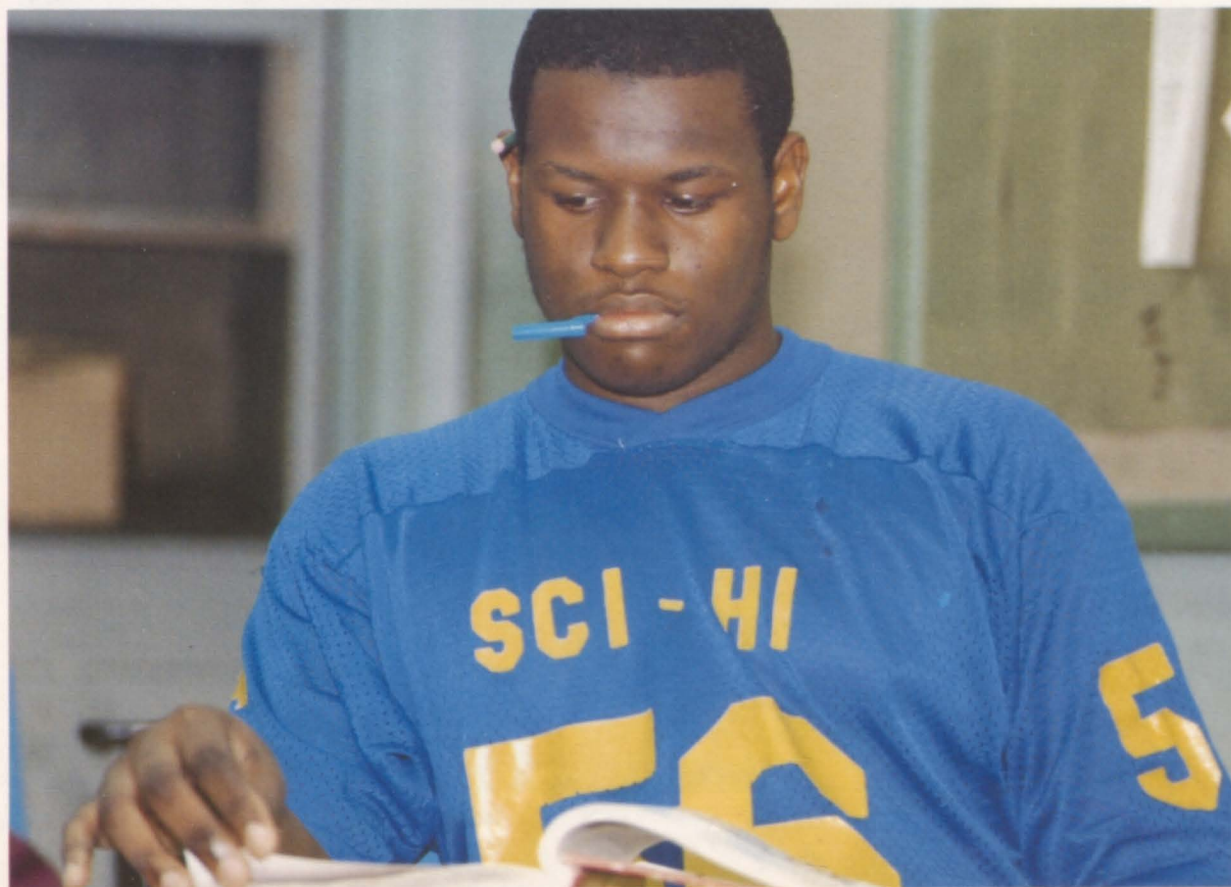

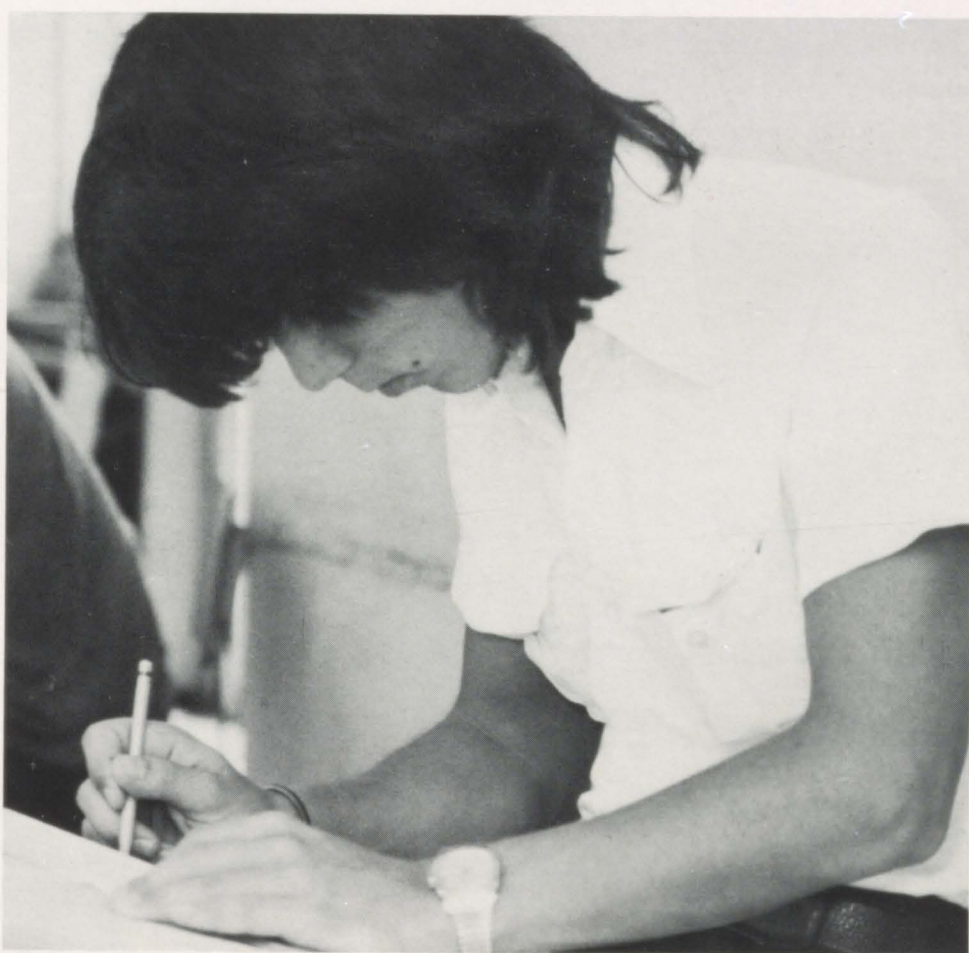

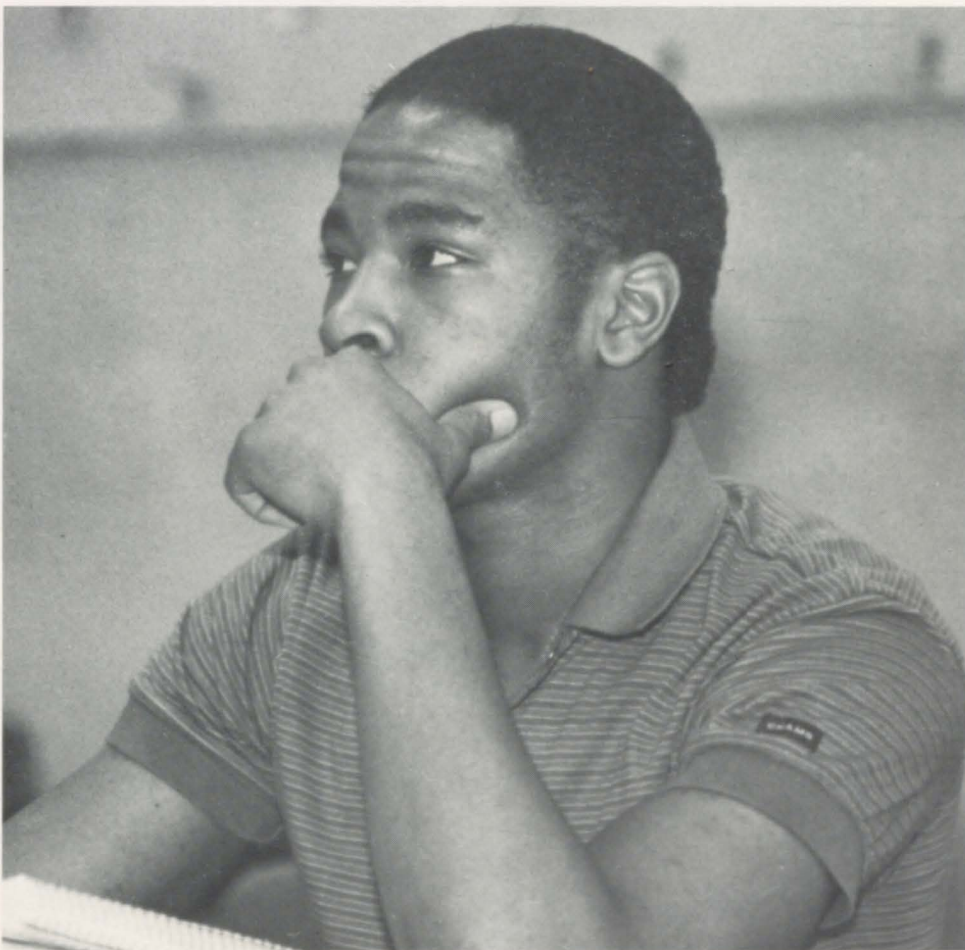

History is philosophy learned from examples.

ADVISOR

Rosie Greggs

Dear Mrs. Greggs,

You are a source of motivation that drives us forward.
You are a parent who wishes for our success.
Your words will forever ring in our ears, "Seniors, pay your dues."

With love,
The Class of '83

GUIDANCE COUNSELOR

George Landers

Dear Mr. Landers,

The Class of 1983, your first graduating class, would like to thank you for your patience, your understanding, and your dedication. We will always remember your guidance and tolerance in times of need.

Thanks for being there.

Class of '83

ADVISOR

William McNeill

Dear Mr. McNeil,

You have shown devotion and generosity in your dealings with us. You gave this class a sense of identity that no other class has ever possessed.

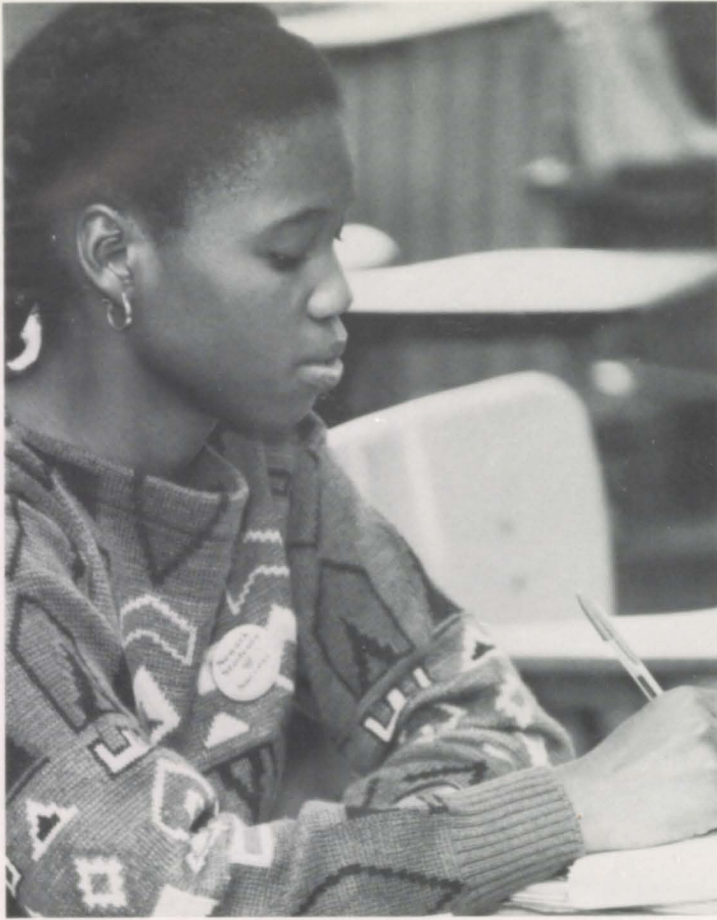

For all you have done for us, we will never forget you.

The Class of '83

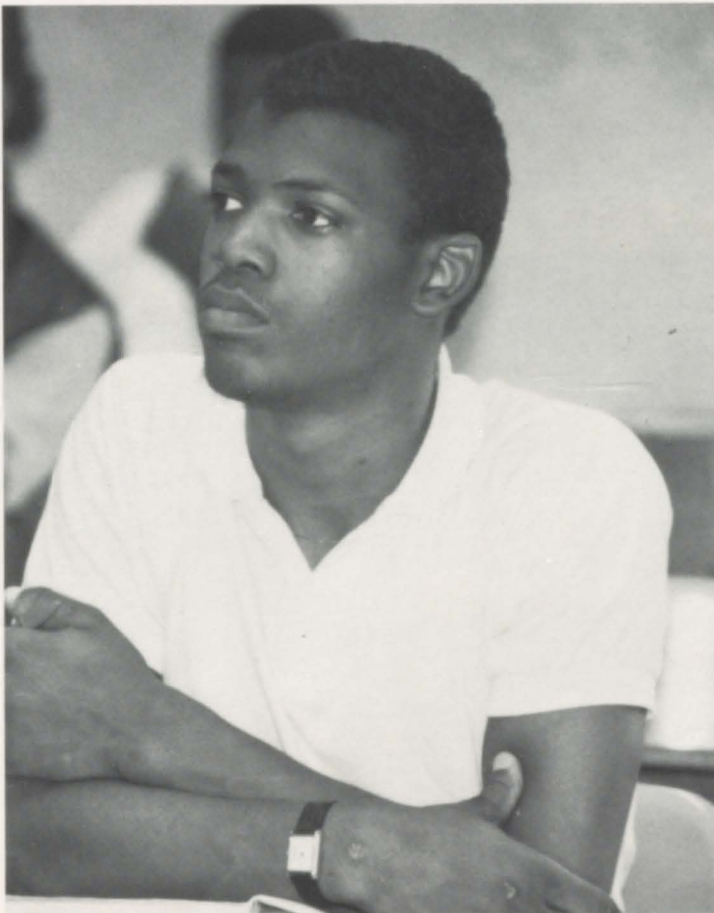

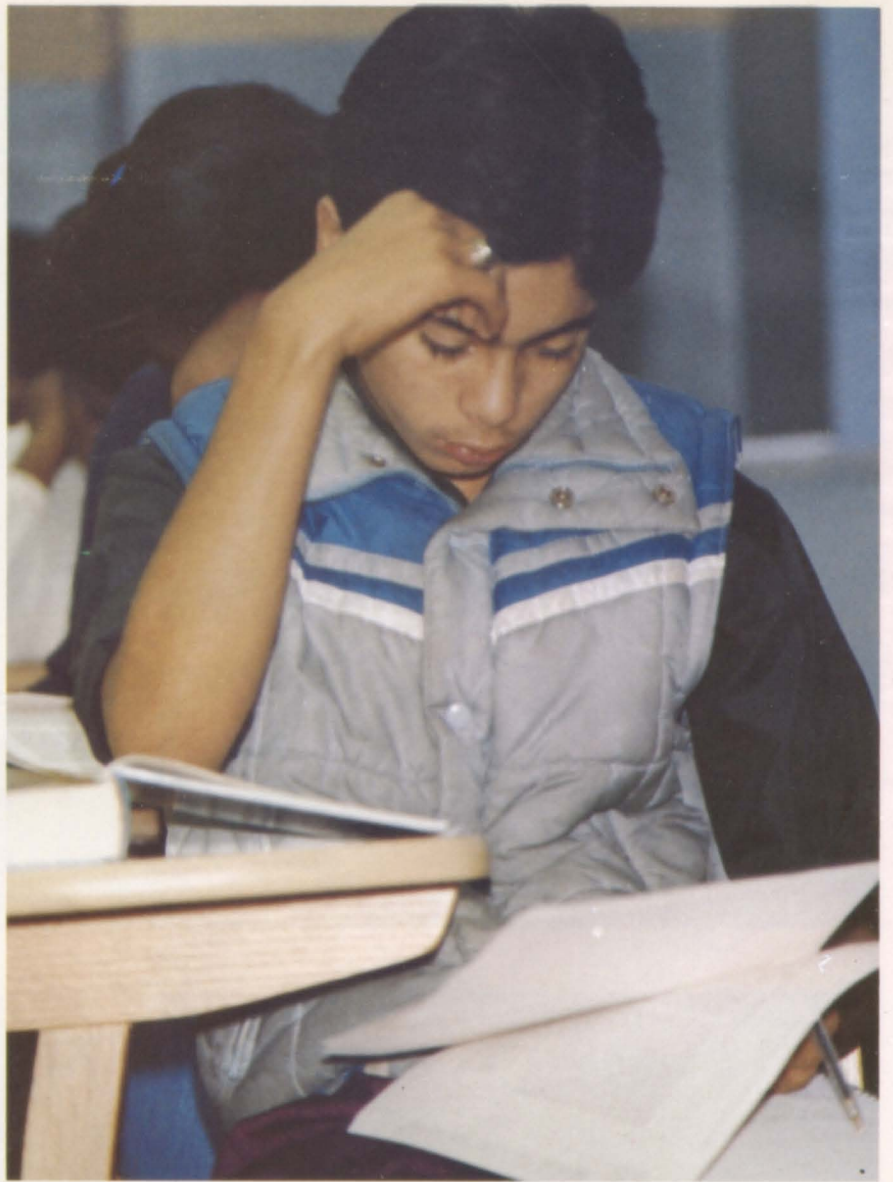

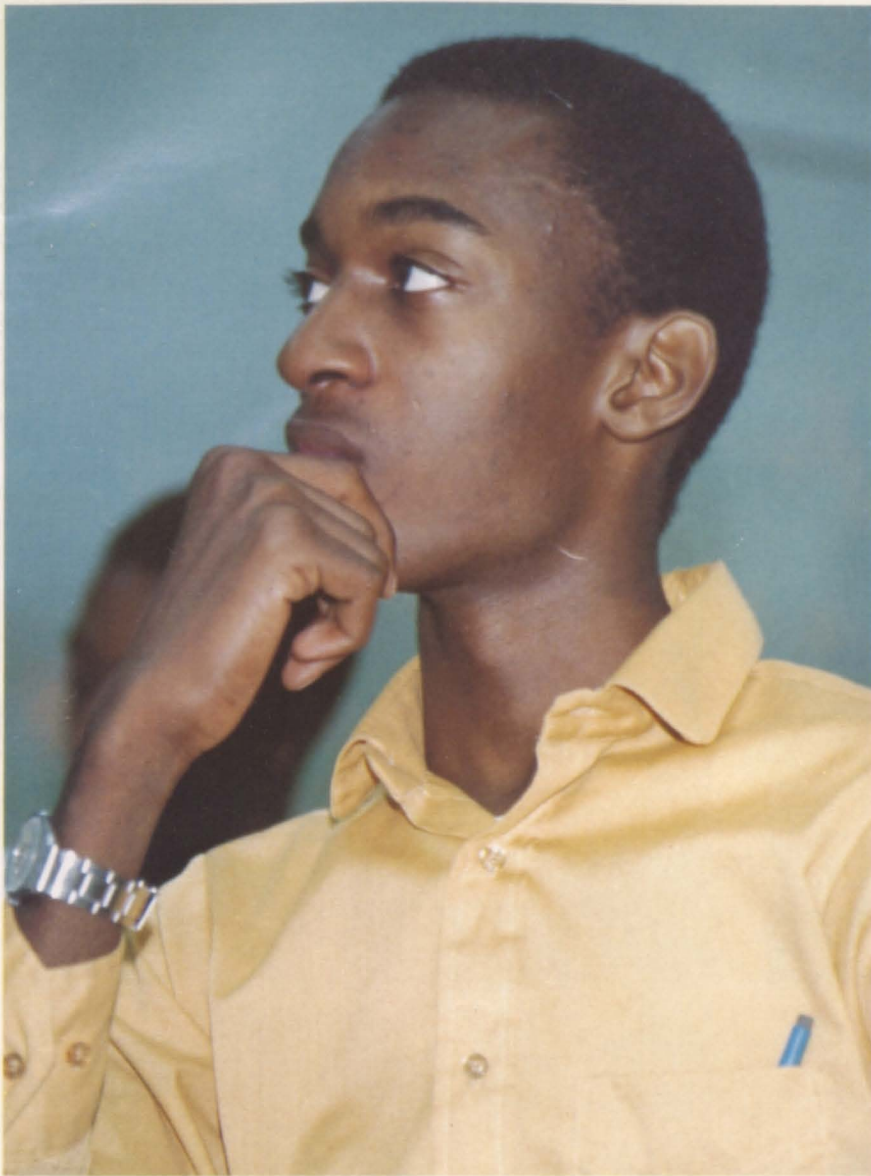

I count myself in nothing else so happy
As in a soul remembering my good friends.

Shakespeare

On February 5, 1982, the first Sweetheart Pageant was held at Science High School. The pageant was presented by the Class of 1983 and the advisors, Mr. McNeil and Mrs. Gregg. The two mistresses of ceremony, June Jones and Tahira Muhammed, presented the contestants and their escorts: Iliana Arroyo, Selena Barron, Pamela Bradley, Cynthia Brooks, Zandrea Crawford, Faythe Harris, Marylou Martinez, Marisol Roman, Lillian Silas. The young lady chosen as Miss Sweetheart was judged on talent and on her ability to answer questions. The winner, who received a crown, a trophy, and flowers was Faythe Harris. The runners-up were Marylou Martinez and Marisol Roman.

This event was one of the most successful fund-raising events in the history of Science High. It was a precedent-setting pageant which, we hope, will continue for years to come.

A black and white photograph of a decorative lamp. The lamp has a dark, ornate frame with four long, curved antlers extending upwards. The central part of the lamp is a bright, glowing rectangular section with vertical bars, resembling a flame or a bright light source. Below this, there is a smaller, dark, ornate section. The lamp is set against a light, textured background.

As we pass from elementary school to high school, we change from one locale to another. But our basic need does not change. Our years within the walls of learning were meant as a preliminary preparation for the good life, but the need of being fit to live well and honorably survives the laying down of our schoolbooks. We still remain unready, unfinished, with minds only half built and half furnished.

ACTIVITIES

SENIORS 41 JUNIORS 35

On November 25, 1982, the Senior basketball team defeated the Juniors in the fourth annual Sr.-Jr. basketball game. The Seniors, who never trailed in the game, performed well. Dennis Mathis, with 11 points, led the well-balanced attack.

But, there's more . . .

SENIOR GIRLS DEFEAT JUNIORS

The Class of '83 continued its winning ways by sweeping 2 games from the Junior girls in the annual Sr.-Jr Girls' volleyball game. The depth and experience of the Senior squad produced the victory.

Congratulations!

SPORTS

Although we do not have sports teams of our own, Science High athletes do participate at other schools and we have come out winners. These athletes have been on championship girl's track teams, on outstanding baseball and football and basketball teams. We also have cheerleaders and twirlers, our own club football team and our own cheerleaders.

This year, Science High's varsity debate team captured its first team championship. Senior Veneicia Scott and Sophomore Rusty Yuson were excellent throughout the debate season in competition against some of the top debaters on the East coast. With an outstanding junior varsity program already in effect, the future of debate at Science High is indeed bright.

To all who helped make the 1983 Synergist a reality I give my thanks. I am grateful to Murray Howard of Taylor Publishing Co. and to Miss Shirley of Lorstan-Thomas Studios for their professional assistance. I sincerely thank the faculty members for their patience and cooperation. To the Seniors I say, "It was a pleasure working with you." And to the staff of the 1983 Synergist I give my gratitude and affection for working together and helping produce this book of memories.

Light is a symbol of learning, of understanding, and of knowledge. At Science High School, we learned about the world and about ourselves. We tried to understand the mysteries of nature and of nature's creatures. We wanted to know, "Why?" Now, our high school career is at an end. The light which shone so brightly for us will shine for others who seek knowledge at Science High School.

Two roads diverged in a wood, and I —
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.
